On This Date

1536 – Jacques Cartier set sail from the St. Lawrence River for France with the captive Donnacona. The Iroquois chief would tell King Francis of the “Kingdom of Saguenay,” a fabled place full of gold, rubies, and other treasures.

1877 – Pursued by U.S. troops following his victory at the Battle of Little Big Horn, Sioux Chief Sitting Bull and his band crossed the border into Saskatchewan. Hunger and cold finally forced them to return and surrender.

Daily Trivia

Young Martin Brodeur learned a lot about hockey while following his dad to work. After a successful playing career, Denis Brodeur became the official photographer for the Montreal Canadiens. He attended all the practices and games for more than 20 years.

Quote of the Day

“I think we all do have a guardian angel. I believe they work through us all the time when we are thoughtful and good and kind to each other.”

~ Roma Downey
