

THE DAILY CHRONICLE

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 8, 2020

On This Date

1906 – Karl Nessler demonstrated the first “permanent wave” for hair at his beauty salon in London, England. The method required that the client wear a dozen brass curlers, each weighing one and three-quarter pounds, for six hours.

1935 – Wedding bells rang for a singer and a bandleader making radio history together. The bandleader was Ozzie Nelson, and the singer was Harriet Hilliard.

1944 – The first broadcast of The Adventures of Ozzie & Harriet was heard on the CBS radio network. The show aired on the radio until 1953 and on ABC-TV from 1952 to 1966.

Daily Trivia

Lighters were invented in the 16th century out of converted flintlock pistols.

Quote of the Day

“I’ve been really lucky. I’ll completely forget I’m a celebrity. And then something will happen, and I’ll go, ‘Oh, right.’”

~ Matt Damon

Happy Birthday!

Matt Damon, born in 1970, is an American actor and producer. His first role was a small part in the 1988 movie Mystic Pizza. A decade later, Damon became a household name, heartthrob, and an Academy Award-winning screenwriter with Good Will Hunting, the 1997 film he cowrote (and costarred in) with fellow actor and friend Ben Affleck. Since then, Damon has become a box office staple with such films as Saving Private Ryan, The Departed, and The Martian. He and his wife Luciana Bozán Barroso have four daughters.

