

[illegible]

Route 66 Detective

Search for the items in bold.

Gather together all boomers, hipsters, and those who are cool

As we learn a pop culture lesson that's not taught in school.

We're in Chicago and then to LA for a ride on what's left of Route 66—

We've got 2 cameras, 2 sets of car keys, and 4 spark plugs if we get in a fix.

We're following a road map and have 4 license plates from states we are traveling;

We've got a Milky Way and a Zagnut bar because we're hungry and unraveling.

We nabbed a Route 66 sign and an Oklahoma arrow, but don't ask us how...

We have a strip of ride tickets and Grand Canyon photos, which was a serious wow!

We're rocking to 3 cassette tapes and eating popcorn with 3 bottles of soda pop for chugs.

We've splurged on lots of souvenirs like a bottle opener, 2 moccasins, and 2 mugs

Along with 2 shot glasses, 5 pairs of sunglasses, 4 postcards, and a Big Boy so sweet.

A St. Louis Cardinal's baseball made our stash of collectibles complete.

Tired of the car, we used a hotel room key to spend the night in a comfortable bed.

We sang about getting our kicks on Route 66 while more of its history we read.

This trip took us back to the '60s, when we were much younger and spryer;

Nostalgia is wonderful, but too much time in a car at our age is dire!