Nothing says Independence Day like 4 flags, a box of sparklers, and a barbecue.

Besides, a celebration is long overdue!

The neighborhood grillers are getting ready to outdo one another cooking up a storm,
While the kids play Frisbee and ride their bikes on a day so sunny and warm.

Lorelei Lane sets the table with 4 forks, 3 knives, 3 plates, and a jar of pickles.

Her husband, Charlie, guards 4 hot dogs and 2 steaks from their dog named Snickles.

He has A1 and barbecue sauce and a can of beer to add to a can of baked beans.

Charlie's wearing his chef's apron, with 2 tongs and a spatula in the pockets, over his jeans.

Lorelei gathers up 2 ketchup and 2 mustard bottles, 2 baskets of pretzels, and chips.

She slices 3 tomatoes on her cutting board and serves up one of her famous onion and bacon dips.

There are 2 watermelon slices for dessert and the ever-popular s'mores gooey treat,

With 4 graham crackers, 6 Hershey's bars, and a bag of marshmallows—so sweet!

Charlie finds his box of matches and lights the charcoal in the grill quite neatly,

But he's added too much lighter fluid, and flames engulf the food completely.

He rescues the steaks with 2 marshmallow roasting forks found nearby,

And promises in the future he'll leave anything involving fire to Lorelei.
