Ambiguous Loss is a type of loss you experience when a person with dementia is physically here but may not be mentally or emotionally present in the same way as before.

Ambiguous loss is very different from the loss and grief of sudden death. It complicates grief, often making it hard to recognize or know how to grieve when the abilities of the person with dementia have changed.

Please join us to learn about steps you can take to live positively with your losses and grief while caring for someone with dementia.

Who Should Attend: care partners, family and friends supporting persons living with dementia
