

Geriatric psychiatrist Dr. Mark Lachmann discusses Alcohol, Addictions and Dementia

21st annual Alzheimer's Awareness Breakfast offers information about substance use in seniors and how it may impact upon dementia

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

AURORA, ON (April 26, 2018) – Dr. Mark Lachmann, a geriatric psychiatrist and medical lead of the Bridgepoint campus of the Sinai Health System, discusses Alcohol, Addictions and Dementia at the 21st annual Alzheimer's Awareness Breakfast Saturday, April 28 at Oakview Terrace, 13526 Leslie St., in Richmond Hill.

Lachmann will explore substance use in seniors and how it may impact upon dementia and community support at the networking event, which includes a continental breakfast.

“The Alzheimer's Awareness Breakfast is a great opportunity for caregivers, clients and the general public to learn more about this disease and different ways it affects our aging population,” says Loren Freid, Chief Executive Officer of Alzheimer Society of York Region.

Tickets are $35 per person and can be purchased at bit.ly/breaktickets or at the door on the day of the event.
